

NOTE FROM ACTING HEAD TEACHER

As-salaamu alaikom

The week started off with a phonics workshop and I hope that our reception class parents found the workshop beneficial and picked up some useful tips on how to support their children's reading and nurture their enjoyment and love for books and reading.

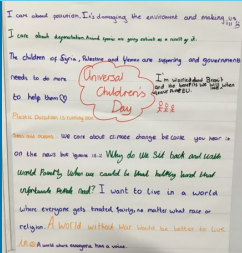

On Thursday, it was Universal Children's Day and, as a UNICEF Rights Respecting School, we used the opportunity to discuss children's rights with our pupils. We are proud of the valuable contributions our pupils made. The mature insight of our Year 6 pupils, into what matters for their future, impressed and touched us all (please check out our Facebook). The week ended on an absolute high note! Some of our pupils who entered the Monster Poetry Competition will have their poems published, masha'Allah! I can't wait to read our published poets' poetry and am on stand-by with my 'famous people autographs book', © Well done!
